

PUBLIC DAILY LEDGER

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1897.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1899.

MAYSVILLE, KY., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1905.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

THE UMPIRE.
Bring forth the hero medal,
For now begins the fray.
Put on the loudest pedal
And let the music play.
Let hards his praises carol,
As modest, yet severe,
Unmoved by thought of peril,
The umpire doth appear.

We loudly hail the pitcher,
The catcher, too, we laud.
Each year we make them richer,
And we gather to applaud:
But the man who dares unfearful
Rash swift and wrathful ball—
We mention him with jeering
If we mention him at all.
And when the chariot carries
The victors from the fray,
He goes, and never tarrys,
Unmoted on his way.
In splendor they are riding,
'Neath the world's admiring glance,
While the man whom they are chiding
Has to take the ambulance.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION

Paul Best in Custody For Harassing Powell B. Owens

THE LEDGER has already noted the shooting of stock belonging to Mr. Powell B. Owens, one of Mason county's best known farmers of the Fernleaf neighborhood, and the attempt to extort money from him by means of threatening letters.

Suspicion has for some time pointed to a distant relative, and Officer Harry Ort of this city has been at work on the case for several days, in connection with expert Detectives of Cincinnati.

The officer's suspicions finally became so strong that he procured a warrant from Squire Grant's Court, and this morning Paul Best was arrested and brought to this city, where his case will probably be heard today.

PARADE NEXT TUESDAY

Many Neighboring Redmen Will be Here to Take Part

On the morning of the second day, Tuesday, June 13th, of the Redmen's Pow-wow and Old Home Week, a gigantic parade will take place at 10 a. m., in which the full membership of Wyandotte Tribe No. 3 will take part, and an average of about thirty members from each of the nine neighboring Tribes.

In addition to the Indians there will be decorated floats of our enterprising business men, together with three bands of music.

The parade will form at the corner of Plum and Third streets and will march West on Third to Wall, thence to Second and East to Lexington and diehand.

Get ready now to have the best time of your life. The Redmen never sleep and they have not left anything undone to give you every bit of enjoyment possible next week.

Decorate your house and let's make the old town look like a new one. We can do it; it is up to you.

CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—Dr. G. G. GARR.

¶The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

¶There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

¶It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't quit, the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

¶But no matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.

¶New trial bottles, 25c. Regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

KENTUCKY PARTISANSHIP!

Caleb Powers Convicted for Political Purposes Only

How the Jurors Were Drawn—Their Singular Political Onesidedness

The Boston Evening Transcript, the most staid and conservative newspaper in New England, publishes a composite sketch of Court scenes and judicial conditions in Kentucky from the pen of William E. Barton, D.D., a noted publicist and contributor to the Eastern Reviews.

Dr. Barton was present at the trial of the Hargises in Lexington, and the first portion of his sketch relates to it; but it will interest LEDGER readers to have his views on the Caleb Powers trials, part of which are given herewith—

Thrice Caleb Powers has been tried in Democratic counties, by Democratic Juries. At the last trial there was one possible Republican on the Jury, though even he is said to have been somewhat more than doubtful. In a county that, while nominally Democratic, had a large Republican vote, and that cast a majority vote for Taylor in 1899, and gave McKinley more than 400 majority in 1896, the 176 men summoned as talesmen for the Jury by a Democratic Sheriff, proved to be 172 regular Democrats and three or possibly four Republicans, with no independent Democrats. The Jury, as first filled, had on it one undoubted Republican, but the prosecution, having failed to find other cause for objecting to him, challenged him peremptorily.

These 172 or 173 Democrats and three or four Republicans are supposed to have been drawn from a wheel containing the names of "all sensible, sober, discreet householders in the county." It is a striking coincidence that a Democratic Sheriff should have drawn from a county nearly equally divided the names of 172 or 173 Democrats and three or four Republicans; but the only surprising thing about it is that the three or four Republicans were there. The previous Jury that tried Powers was solidly Democratic, and of the five Jurors that tried his alleged accomplices (James Howard was tried twice, Berry Howard, Captain Ripley and Henry E. Youtsey,) all were Democratic to a man.

It is not very surprising that Republicans in Kentucky are declaring that Powers was convicted because his conviction was a political necessity, and therefore a foregone conclusion. It is not wholly to be wondered at that they object to having $100,000 of the money to which their own taxes are devoted appropriated by a Democratic Legislature to find men guilty of the murder of Goebel. "One hundred thousand dollars!" exclaimed a prominent Republican lawyer. "With five thousand dollars I can convict, of the murder of Goebel, any Republican in the state."

Caleb Powers may be guilty, but he has not been proved guilty, nor have the Courts of his state been in a temper to accord him a trial fair and impartial. Had his change of venue taken him to a mountain county with a Republican Judge and a Republican Sheriff, and had he been tried before a Republican Jury, he would as surely have been acquitted as, being tried in the Bluegrass before a Democratic Judge and by a Democratic Jury, he was sure to be convicted. Even if he were guilty it would be a frightful thing to put him to death on a verdict rendered by a Jury so constituted, and with half the people of Kentucky believing that he is being murdered for political purposes. A worse thing than the killing of men from ambush is the fact that a large part of the people of Kentucky believe that both the pardoning power of the Executive and the machinery of the Courts are used for political ends.

The Democrats are not the only sinners, nor worse sinners than the Republicans. The Courts of the Republican counties would have been as greatly influenced by the political situation as have the Courts of the Democratic counties. Powers would not have obtained an impartial trial in his own county of Knox, but there the verdict would certainly have been reversed. It would be a terrible thing to hang a man on circumstantial evidence, not all of it above suspicion of perjury, and with a hundred thousand dollars to warp the consciences of the detectives and witnesses, when the whole state knows that a hundred miles away the Jury would never have left the box to bring in its verdict of not guilty. I do not pretend to say whether Powers is guilty or not, but he has not been proved guilty, and if he is put to death, his murder—for it will be nothing less—will be a more fearful record for the Democrats of Kentucky to face than is now the murder of Goebel for the Republicans.

For it is the murder of Goebel that has cost the Republicans the control of Kentucky. The insane or drunken act of some desperate Republican, or group of such men, has given to the Democrats a battle-cry before which the Republicans have gone down. "The Party of Assassination" is the gentle term which has been used throughout Kentucky to describe the Republicans. Let the Democrats now beware lest they go down before the cry of "The Party of Judicial Murder."

But for the murder of Goebel the Republicans might have controlled Kentucky for a long time to come. More than half the voters of Kentucky, white and colored, are Republican, and their number was greatly augmented by a large secession of Independent Democrats, who hated the tactics of Goebel. There was a righteous uprising of good men, Republican and Democrat, in protest against that sort of politics to which we people of more civilized communities submit so pusillanimously. Goebel was killed, and the whole Republican party in Kentucky had to bear the blame of it. And the $100,000 blood money is not all spent. Two Governors of Indiana have been criticized for harboring Taylor, who, as the Republican claimant of the chair of the Governor, was charged with a share in the conspiracy. But the Governors have done exactly right. To have returned Taylor would have been to share the responsibilities for his condemnation, and possibly for his execution.

But Kentucky is not hopelessly corrupt. Not all the Republicans are assassins, nor are all Democrats suborners of Juries. The good men in both parties far exceed the bad men. Either party can bring about better things, and both parties will yet do so. The mountains need less whisky and better schools, less lawlessness and better regard for justice; the Bluegrass needs less pride of birth and of hereditary privilege, less assurance of superiority because there are inferior peoples to look down upon, and more energy, earnestness and genuine democracy. And the party in power, whichever that party may be, needs to cease using the pardoning power for political ends, to divorce the Courts from political influence, and to make the people believe that a ballot cast will be honestly counted, and the will of the people obeyed.

It would not surprise me greatly if the Democratic leaders would now be glad if they could safely be rid of Caleb Powers. It could do them little good to hang him, and would expose them to unpleasant charges for many years to come. The moral effect of his conviction has had its weight; has given the Democrats a campaign cry, and has put the Republicans to sudden confusion. But to hang him, and to have it hung up in every political speech for the next twenty years that he was found guilty by Democratic Juries—that is a situation that has uncomfortable possibilities. So, while the re-trial of the case of Powers will be vigorously contested, there are not a few Democrats in Kentucky who feel themselves in the predicament of the old hunter who wanted someone to help him let go of the bear.

Hon. R. D. Hill, Attorney for Powers, has sent me a copy of the brief he has presented to the United States Court. It is an ingenious plea which he has made for a fourth trial, and is based on the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. Just now when the last three amendments seem to have fallen by the way, and to have failed of their original purpose of protecting the newly constituted rights of the black man, they are coming to the front as affording possible protection to the white man. The last clause of the Fourteenth Amendment forbids any state to "deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." There is nothing in this clause about "race, color or previous condition of servitude," though that was what the amendment had in mind. The contention of Mr. Hill is that the amendment is not limited to discriminations based on race or color, and applies equally well to dis-

Mr. H. C. Stone after having one eye operated on by Dr. Ayers of Cincinnati two years ago is now fearful that he will have to have the same performance on the other.

Miss Lizzie May and brother, Kinzie Stone, attended the children's entertainment at Mt. Carmel in the morning and Millbrook in the evening and reported large crowds and all very much pleased with the performances, etc.

The weather has been so propitious for the growth of all vegetation we hear no grumbling from the farmers except the damage by the cutworms, but that is generally abated in time to secure a crop—accompanied with patience and precaution.

Mr. Charley Wallingford, wife—nee Myall from near Mayslick—and babe visited his father's aunt, Mrs. Stone, and family, last Sunday. His father, Mr. Joe Wallingford, and family, are now located in Louisville and Mr. Charley is running the farm near Nepton.

With the will and energy shown in getting out a crop and the prospects now in view it seems that there is an inclination generally, with a perceptible degree of success, to increase the bulk for the next sale, thereby not so congruous to the wishes of the speculators or to the prospective protective Hurley Growers Association.

"CUT IT OUT"

says the doctor to many of his lady patients, because he doesn't know of any medicinal treatment that will positively cure womb or ovarian troubles, except the surgeon's knife.

That such a medicine exists, however, has been proved by the wonderful cures performed on diseased women, in thousands of cases, by

WINE OF CARDUI
IT CURES WOMB DISEASE.

It has saved the lives of thousands of weak, sick women, and has rescued thousands of others from a melancholy lifetime of chronic invalidism. It will cure you, if you will only give it a chance. Try it.

Sold at every drug store in $1.00 bottles.

WRITE US A LETTER
Put aside all timidity and write us freely and frankly, in strictest confidence, telling us all your symptoms and troubles. We will send free advice in plain, sealed envelope, how to cure them. Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

GAVE UP SUPPORTER.
"I wore a supporter for four years, to keep up my womb, which had crowded everything down below," writes Mrs. S. J. Crisman, of Maysville, N. Y. "My doctor told me no medicine would help me. I suffered untold misery, and could hardly walk. After taking two bottles of Cardui I gave up my supporter. Now I am like my friends, have no bad feelings as to my womb, and can be on my feet half a day at a time. I strongly recommend Cardui to every suffering woman."

W. O. Hampton, one of Ashland's ablest lawyers, was found dead in bed at his home by his daughter a day or so ago.

HAPPY WOMEN.
Plenty of Them in Maysville, and Good Reason For It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, She finds relief and cure?

No reason why any Maysville reader Should suffer in face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Lizzie Burns, living on the Blue Run Turnpike, West End, Maysville, Ky., says:

"My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills which I expressed through our newspapers in the spring of 1900 has not altered. I value this preparation more highly today than I did when I gave my first testimonial. Before I got Doan's Kidney Pills at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore I was troubled with severe spells of backache and kidney complaint, which came on every three or six months, and there were times when I was confined to my bed and rendered almost helpless. The quick and decided benefit I received from Doan's Kidney Pills was wonderful. I have noticed slight returns of backache since, but an appeal to Doan's Kidney Pills has never failed to quickly and positively check the trouble. In every case I know among my friends when Doan's Kidney Pills have been used the results have always been satisfactory."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
